Dear Parent / Carer,

In your child's book bag today you will find two logins: one for maths and one for reading.

Reading online

One is for bug club. You can log in on line at https://www.activelearnprimary.co.uk/login . In google search for' active learning' and it should give you an option. When you log in use the log in details on the bug club bookmark. The school code is Gleb.

Maths online

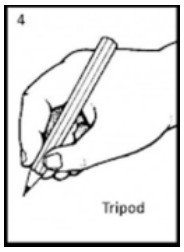
The second one is for Numbots which is award winning maths program which will support them with their counting, adding and later on subtraction skills. It is the baby brother to timestables rockstars for those of you who have children in Picklenash. You can log onto Numbots at https://play.numbots.com/#/intro

Click on the green arrow, then select schools and then pupils. Search for the school which is Picklenash Junior School and then type in your child's username and then your password.

After that you will have an introduction screen which you can skip after the first time. You will then be taken to the custom shop where you can choose your numbot avatar and an online name. This is to ensure your child's online safety and their real name will not be used. Then you can start playing!

RWI letter formation practise.

We have also included the rhymes we use to help your child learn the correct letter formation in case you would like to encourage your child to practise writing their letters at home. Please encourage this grip when holding a pencil.



Any problems or questions please ask and many thanks for your continued support.

The EYFS team.
